MISCELLANEOUS.

SAD CASE OF STARVATION.

A Father Steals a Sack of Flour, Which His Family Devours Raw.This little story, whose sadness is not wholly sad, comes from a western city which has suffered severely during the present financial stringency.A grocer in one of the poorer quarters of the town was accosted one day by a man who asked if he would let him have a sack of flour and trust him for payment until he found work again. The grocer refused. Going out to the front of his shop a few minutes later, he found the man no longer in sight, and one of the sacks of flour piled up outside was missing. Summoning the nearest policeman, he described the man and his application."I think I know who he is," said the officer. "I'll have him for you in a jiffy."On arriving at the house of the man whom from the description he suspected of the theft, the policeman walked in without knocking. The teatite sack of flour was standing on a table in the center of the room, and the family was gathered around it. They had not waited to untie, much less to cook it, but armed with spoons had fallen ravenously upon the sack, and making holes in the sides were eating the dry flour. The man turned white to his lips at the sight of the officer.The policeman looked and hesitated. Suddenly a bright idea occurred to him."Does John Smith live here?"The man shook his head."Do you know where he does live?"No one knew."That's all right. Perhaps I can find out next door. It's John Smith I want," and the officer of the law retreated. Returning to the grocery, he asked the price of the flour, paid it and related the scene."And I will be d—d," he concluded, lowering his voice reverentially, as might one who had trodden unawares upon sacred ground, "if I am going to arrest that man!"—Kate Field's WashingtonVanderbilt's Religion.Commodore Vanderbilt was a friend of the late Dr. Deems, and one was about as clerical looking as the other. The two were riding in a Fourth avenue car one day, when two drunken men got in. One of the newcomers swore, and his companion reproved him for such conduct in the presence of a parson. The offender thereupon, turning not to Dr. Deems, but to the old comodore, said, "You think I'm going to hell, don't you?" "No," said the comodore. "I hope not," and drank it. A DEMOCRAT ON DEMOCRACY.

Congressman Tom L. Johnson of Ohio stirred up the House of Representatives with a forcible speech on the Wilson bill. Johnson is a Democrat and his arraignment of his own party and disapproval of certain features of the Wilson bill created something of a sensation. He condemned the Democracy for its inaction and delay in redeeming its promise to reform what it characterized during the Presidential campaign as the "robber tariff." He said the Democrats promised to stop this robbery if the people gave them authority. They gave that authority and then the haste to abolish oppressive taxation subsided, and instead of flying at the throats of the robber trusts the great Democratic party began, as it were, to wag its tail and look for crumbs. If Cleveland had shown the sagacity and courage the situation demanded, the ink would not have been dry on the commissions of his Secretaries before Congress would have been called in extra session to relieve the country of its burdensome taxation. As a climax to all this delay came the shameful days of last week in which the House stood paralyzed, because, despite its large majority, the Democracy could neither furnish a quorum to be counted nor count one really present.

Discussing the Wilson bill Johnson commanded it for its blow at the Sugar trust, condemned it because it left the Whisky trust, the Steel-rail trust, the Bicycle trust, the Cordage trust and the Lead trust free to pluck the American consumer.

He spoke of steel rails, of which he is one of the largest manufacturers in the country, declaring the present duty equal to fifty per cent. of the value of the rails, while the present bill proposes only a reduction of twenty-five per cent.

This gave a protection of twenty-five per cent. or rails that could be produced as cheaply here as anywhere. The bill which he would pass would abolish all import and corresponding internal revenue duties, discharge all the officials collecting such duties and direct the Secretary of the Treasury to sell all the custom houses and revenue cutters. Such a bill, he classified, would incite no more opposition than the poor, timid little Wilson bill, and would receive strong support.

It is refreshing in these days, when the success of a party is placed above the public welfare, to have a member of Congress arraign his partisans for their delinquencies and double dealing. Congressman Johnson, who represents the Cleveland, Ohio, district is one of the largest steel rail manufacturers in the country. He says rails can be produced as cheap in the United States as anywhere and, therefore, the industry requires no protection. Putting a duty on rails is like placing a tariff on wheat, of which grain the United States exports more than any other country on the globe. It is to delude the farmer with the idea that a twenty-five cent tariff adds that much to the market price of every bushel of wheat which he produces, when his grain has to be shipped to Europe to be marketed. If steel rails are being manufactured here as cheap as elsewhere, why put a tariff on them?

Congressman Johnson, who has doubtless acquired a fortune in manufacturing rails, seems to be an absolute free trader, as he would abolish the custom houses. Probably he entertained different views until he was enriched by the tariff, and is now in a condition to compete with the world in the rail business. However, he deserves credit for exposing the hypocrisy of his party and manfully proclaiming that the business in which he is engaged, though protected by a fifty per cent. tariff, is in a condition to compete with the world.

Now let the coal barons and the manufacturers of bulky articles, to which the cost of transportation affords sufficient protection, follow the example of Congressman Johnson and more articles will be put on the free list without injury to the country and with great benefit to many.

THE NEXT CONGRESS.

The Denver News, referring to the importance of the next Congress, says: "It should be kept constantly in mind by every silver man East, West, North and South that the Congress elected this year will probably have to elect the next President. The People's party will undoubtedly carry several Southern and Western States, and this will possibly prevent an election by the people. The Presidential election is therefore to be fought over in 1894 as well as in 1896."

The Colorado Legislature will probably adjourn sine die to-day. The members think the Governor's recommendations are impracticable, and that no good can result from the special session. His suggestion that all dollars of whatever country containing not less than 371 $\frac{1}{4}$ grains of silver be made a legal tender in Colorado cannot be carried into effect as State must recognize the sovereignty of the Federal Government regarding coinage.

THOMAS H. CARTER has resigned the Chairmanship of the Republican National Committee, and ex-President Harrison, who attributed his defeat to Carter's rainbow chasing in the South, has smiled for the first time since he left the White House.

A TRAIN ROBBERY.

Five Masked Men Secure Large Sum of Money.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., January 11.—Last evening the Burlington "Eli" train, bound for Chicago, was held up by five masked men. The express and mail cars were robbed.

The train was pulling up a steep hill, two miles east of this city. Suddenly several torpedoes cracked on the track, and immediately afterward a red lantern was swung in front of the engineer. The engineer quickly brought the train to a stop. Then the engine was boarded by three masked men, who covered the engineer and fireman with revolvers.

It was an old-fashioned robbery, but it was successful in every detail. The engineer and fireman were forced to walk back in front of the robbers to the door of the express car. Express Messenger G. B. Wetzel did not suspect there were robbers outside and when he heard the engine calling he opened the door. The three men were joined by two more, also masked.

Three of the men stood outside to guard the fireman and engineer, occasionally firing shots to intimidate the passengers.

Two of the bandits entered the express car, covered the messenger with rifles and ordered him to open the safe. He obeyed as promptly as he did when told to open his cardoor.

Two of the robbers then entered the mail car and took possession of a couple of registered pouches.

After securing the parcels the bandits fired a few more shots, and jumping into buggies hitched near the track started for this city. The passengers were not disturbed.

What makes it more probable that a big sum was secured is a remark dropped by the Adams Express agent when informed of the robbery. He said:

"Well, they struck us at an awful bad time."

SEES ITS MISTAKE.

Cleveland Backing Water in Hawaiian Matters.

WASHINGTON, January 11.—There is every indication that President Cleveland, Secretary Gresham and the supporters of these two gentlemen on the Hawaiian question up to date have backed water and will now seek protection under the wings of Congress.

That this is the intention of the President and Secretary Gresham is more plain than ever before. Every move that they have made within the past few hours, and every utterance coming from them or their supporters, strongly points to such an outcome, and if there is no new scheme concerted before to-morrow President Cleveland will send in his message to Congress and will recommend that the future actions of this Government in dealing with Hawaii be left entirely to the legislative wing of the Government.

This action is taken for the simple reason that the Administration officials have become perfectly satisfied that they have gone too far in their attempt to restore the Queen, and a back down, and a quick one, in order to prevent impeachment of the Chief Executive, is the only way out of the difficulty. Secretary Gresham has given out an interview which intimates strongly that he contemplates no new action of extraordinary moment in dealing with the Hawaiian question, and without doubt his statement was practically dictated by the President.

WANTS BONDS ISSUED.

Carlisle so Proposes to the Senate Finance Committee.

WASHINGTON, January 11.—Secretary Carlisle proposed an issue of bonds to the Senate Committee on Finance this afternoon. Voorhees, Harris, Jones of Arkansas, Vest, Sherman, Allison, and Jones of Nevada were present.

Secretary Carlisle said he wanted authority to issue bonds. He thinks an issue of bonds the best way to meet the apparently rapidly approaching crisis in the Treasury. The Secretary stated that instead of increasing the Government receipts had continued to diminish until there was coming to be a monthly gap of about $10,000 between receipts and expenditures. Therefore he favored an issue of 3 per cent bonds, running three, four or five years.

The committee dispersed without action, but enough developed to show that it will be very difficult to agree upon a bill.

NEVADA'S EXHIBIT.

The State Building to be Completed Next Saturday.

State Commissioner Yerington has returned to San Francisco to open the Nevada exhibit at the Midwinter Fair, says the Virginia Enterprise. He expects to receive the keys of the State building on Saturday, and will at once enter upon the work of getting the exhibit installed. The object of his recent visit to the Comstock and other counties was to urge upon the local Commissioners the necessity of shipping their exhibits at the earliest possible date, as he desires to have the display complete by the first week in February.

The photographs and casts of the prehistoric footprints in the State Prison quarry will be one of the most interesting features of the exhibit, as the greatest care has been exercised in preparing fac-similes of the footprints and their surroundings. The mineral and agricultural exhibits from Nye, Lincoln and Lander counties have been shipped.

THE HAY CROP.

There Will Not be Much Surplus. A farmer, who has taken pains to ascertain, says about one-half the hay crop of the Truckee Meadows has been fed or baled and shipped out of the country, and that about one-fifth of the total crop remains unsold. A number of the largest producers, such as D. C. Wheeler, Bradley, Russell & Co., G. W. Mapes and Sparks and Slavin feed all or nearly all their hay to their own stock and have none for sale. The shipments to California average about 250 tons a month, and there are over 5,000 head of cattle and 20,000 sheep now being fed on hay in this vicinity. Besides this there are about 2,000 dairy cows being fed, so that hay disappears rapidly and there will not be much, if any, surplus in the spring.

ODDS AND ENDS.

The most important objection to the annexation of Utah to Nevada seems to be that in these hard times one wife is all that any man can support.

A Pennsylvania steel manufacturer in the House of Representatives has made a speech in favor of a reduction of the tariff on steel even below the Wilson schedule. It is probable that both parties will be in favor of a non-partisan commission for examining into his lunacy.

It now appears that the Senate is not in favor of further domestic reciprocity across party lines. President Cleveland's appointment of ex-President Harrison's brother to a fat Federal office was the last straw which broke the proverbial camel's lumbar vertebrae. Secretary Carlisle tells the Senate Finance Committee that the receipts fall short of the expenditures about $10,000,000 a month, and he wants to issue 3 per cent bonds to get money to make up the deficiency. He does not want silver coined nor greenbacks issued; nothing will satisfy him but bonds because Wall street wants them.

A National Bank receiver appointed by the Comptroller of the Currency is discovered to be an ex-member of a State prison, and some people are foolish enough to think it a disqualification. While the receiver undoubtedly did not have the opportunity during the period of his incarceration of keeping his hand in practically it must not be inferred that he did not gain in the meantime a theoretical knowledge of the percentage which he is expected to swipe.

Officers Installed.

The following are the names of those installed last evening to act as officers of Reno Lodge, No. 19, I. O. O. F., for the ensuing term: J. H. Berger, J. P. G.; G. W. Campbell, N. G.; A. D. Bird, V.
